

19. Struck by Truck

A 41-year-old highway maintenance worker was struck by a pick-up truck while walking along the roadside of an interstate ramp. A work crew was re-installing a sign that recent storm had blown down. The victim was a dump-truck driver for the crew and was supposed to be working in the work zone on the interstate highway. A fireman walked down the ramp and asked the crew if they were missing a member. Co-workers noticed that the victim was not with his truck. He was found at the top of the exit ramp, out of view of the worksite. Co-workers believed that he had taken a break and walked to the top of the ramp and was struck by the passing pick-up truck. First-aid was available, but the victim did not survive.
